For the past fifteen years we have been producing fine forcing Azaleas. Our pot-growing and feeding method allow us to deliver plants to you with an absolute minimum of ROOT DISTURBANCE so prevalent with plants that are field grown.

By shipping time the plants have absorbed the food so that the roots are practically dirt free and weigh half as much as unpotted plants of the same size. This with our light cedar boxes, saves you approximately 50% of freight weight.

Our forcing Azaleas are noted for their large multiple blooms of long-lasting quality and fine colors for your Christmas and January trade.

GENERAL INFORMATION: This cancels all previous lists and is subject to change without notice. All orders subject to prior sale. All prices are quoted F.O.B., Bothell, Wash.

PACKING: Based on cost of material.

SHIPPING: Our responsibility ceases when goods are delivered to transportation company in good condition. Goods travel at buyer's risk.
